LICK FORE.

A Poetical Apostrophe in Prose-[The following remarkable paper written in an old account book was found yesten in an old account book was loand yets terday in some rubbish by the workmen who are fitting up the building just above our offlee, now occupied by Harry Cald well as a feed-atore. The authornally is unknown. Lick Fork, we may explain, is a sylvan stream that meanders among the classig mountains and groves of Wet 22!. The writer was probably some roystering young fisherman, who in pursuit of the finny tribes met his fate in the person of the maid whose domicile was on the left shore of Lick Fork. How long ago that may have been, how he prospered in his love, what became of him what fate befell the Maid of Lick Fork—these are chapters of the "old, old story" that will probably always remain unwritten:]

A tew days ago the House took up the everlasting never-to-ger-done-work the intelligencer. The terms are considered in the same of the fair sex of Charleston have of the Whole to discuss it. When the same of the fair sex of Charleston have also much to work an indefinite time on the roads and to acroen the rich. There was apile a stir noticcable and a good deal of division of sentiment. The delegates who favor this were soon found to be in the majority, and as it is a measure that every laboring man in the State is included in the should have other matters on his mind who as many rious members votcal. While the bill was being discussed, the clock that is in the capitol begran to, strike and kept on striking until the Sergeant-atars was called in, or waked up rather, to stop the "cussed thing." The "road law" favorites began to be alarmed at this singular action of the clock, and to the wast in Belshazzar's day. They became alarmed and uneasy, and shortly afterward sunceceded in getting the whole matter laid over until another day. This "road law" will be quite a thorn the side of the reformers.

This Legislature seems determined to create jobs. The House have a bill (No. 115) which is being lobbyed through, the clock are quites every owner of a steam boller to the create jobs. The House have a bill (No. 115) which is being lobbyed through, the clock and rocked the steam boller to the steam of the facility of the fagit. The steam of the facility of the fagit. has been produced before the committee which has this bill under consideration is of very little or no use, but seems to be commended only by its providing that no man as State supervising inspector, and the nemen, one from each Congressional District, as local inspectors; the former at a salary of one thousand and the latter at six hundred dollars per year, and by the amount of money that would be made by the owners of patent low water indicators. The owner of these is here (a Mr. Bradford) and is an experigaced lobbyist, and is working the matter up and taking great interest in what he terms the protection of "lite and property," but what really is the creation of a job, by which he can sell and compel every man, firm or corporation who owns steam bollers, large or small, in the State of West Virginia, to buy his indicator and use them on his bollers. I understand the provided that all the number of bollers in the State puts the number of bollers on the state puts the number of bollers of the cost the particular state of the cost the particular state of the cost in the State of the cost the Public Printer in its

It seems strange, but Mr. Davenport it made on certain charges. On the 11th avors the bill and spoke in its favor when the came up the other day. Mr. Miller the House went into Committee of the Whole on these amendments, and nearly all were voted down, and it soon nearly all were voted down. It seems strange, but Mr. Davenport favors the bill and spoken its favor when it came up the other day. Mr. Miller also favors the bill. What your boller owners will think of their course I can only conjecture. This bill is the completest job that was ever before a West Virginia Legislature, unless it was a similar bill of 1870 or 1871, which was defeated owners will think of their course I can only conjecture. This bill is the completest job that was ever before a Weat Virginia Legislature, unless it was a similar bill of 1870 or 1871, which was defeated.

Every owner of boilers in and around Charleston is opposed to being imposed upon in this way, and are making an elfort to deleat the whole bill.

H. G. Davis, with his usual acumen, as to the wants and inclinations, of a Democratic Legislature, whether it be drinks, a days sail and dinner on the Kanawha lust before a Senatorial contest, or to meet the wants of the agriculturist, has became clear that Walker had not calcu-

There is trouble ahead as sure as the party undertake to carry out these exterms measures. They will find that Jacob is a man of much more nerve than they are calculating on, and that he will not allow any cropping of authority or power without showing lis nerve, and the whole people of the State will indorse him, regardless of party. The masses are willing to submit to the defeat of last Fall maniully, and none but ward politicans and hangers on for office are creating this whole trouble. Jacob has everything in his power in this conflict, and will no doubt make use of it.
